We recognize it for the crisis that it is and understand the frustrations that people are experiencing in trying to find a physician. Rest assured that, as a medical community, we are doing everything we can do to attract new physicians. In the meantime, below is the most recent list of primary care physicians, who are members of the Medical Society (non-member notations below), with notes regarding who may be accepting and who aren't. If practices are able to take new patients, they may have waiting lists.

You might also inquire with your Insurance Carriers regarding the providers they are contracted with.
